At the request of [REDACTED] CCI, the latest and best available photography of I-Kiang Shan, China was procured and examined. Answering CCI's specific question, we reported that, as of the date of the photography, there was no airfield under construction, nor is there any feasible location for an airfield on this small island with its extremely rugged terrain.

A mosaic, measuring approximately 18"x18", was prepared and delivered to CCI.

CH'ING-TAO (TSINGTAO) CHINA NAVAL DOCKYARD

This memorandum is in reply to a request from ORR/D/GG for information concerning the possible location of a power plant at the Ch'ing-Tao (Tsingtao) Naval Dockyard.

25X1D

Aerial photography dated [REDACTED] was carefully studied and no power plant could be seen in the naval dockyard.

A search and study of documents in the files of OCD/IR revealed that the naval dockyard receives it's power from commercial power plants in the city. A study of the photographs indicates that this is probably true.

SOUTH CENTRAL CHINA TARGET STUDY

This memorandum is in answer to a request from D/CG for information concerning the power grid of several Chinese cities. A search was made of Navy and Air Force photographic files to obtain large scale aerial photography that was required for the project. The only city that was adequately covered was Shanghai.

The requester supplied existing diagrams of the power grid systems. An interpretation was made of World War II and [REDACTED] photography in an attempt to confirm the locations of power stations, sub-stations, and principal power lines. All information and confirmation was supplied to the requester in the form of annotations on the requester's own maps.
